Stress Less for Success at Work

Take good care of your mental wellness in the workplace. Poor stress management can cause many problems. Headaches, digestive problems, insomnia, depression, and anxiety are all linked to stress. The good news is that you CAN do something about your stress. The research is clear that those who manage stress well engage in certain behaviors. We will teach your team stress management skills that are proven to work.

Implementing a Stress Coping Plan at Your Organization

The follow up to our “Stress Less for Success” training. Learn how to implement and sustain a stress management plan that will work for your team. First we will help your team identify their top 3 key causes of stress and then implement a Taylor-made plan that will help. Your team will learn what it takes to establish and maintain healthy stress coping habits.

Amazing Personal Productivity

Few things can improve the quality of your life more than getting organized and improving your time management skills. Just as people who start living on a budget often feel like they’ve received a pay raise, people who start practicing good time management skills often feel like they’ve added hours to their day. Participants will learn highly effective time management and organization techniques.

“Budget” Is Not a Bad Word

Is financial stress sucking the joy out of your life? Do you sometimes wonder if you have the skills necessary to successfully manage your money? This course is for those wishing to learn or re-learn the basics of good personal finance. In this training you will learn how to create and maintain a budget, develop a plan for long term financial health, and systematically eliminate debt from your life. Numerous practical money saving ideas will be shared.

How to Think Like a Winner

Successful people think encouraging thoughts. This training helps participants learn how to identify unhealthy and discouraging thinking patterns and replace them with a healthy mindset. Participants will leave with a system that, if applied, can help them become healthy thinkers for life.

DISC Personality D Teamwork

Understanding your personality type and the types of your team members gives you valuable information. You’ll learn what motivates you and your teammates, and how to communicate with each one effectively. Discover how to encourage and manage conflict with each person based on their unique personality style.

Navigating Difficult Work Relationships

Difficult people are all around. We deal with them at home, work, and in public. There are successful ways to navigate these relationships. We will teach you the strategies that work including effective conflict resolution skills, assertiveness skills, and a way to turn some of your enemies into friends.

Communication Skills

There are few skills more essential to career success than being able to communicate in a clear a precise manner. This training is designed for those who need to learn or re-learn the basics of communication. Topics covered include verbal & written communication, leading meetings, and giving presentations.

The Successful Supervisor

Successful supervisors do things differently. They have courage, they are role models, and they lead. Participants will identify characteristics of leadership, learn self-care strategies for leaders, and learn how to reinforce positive behaviors while holding people accountable. Other topics include team building, delegation, stress management, and conflict resolution.

Creating a Healthy Work Culture

Excellent employees and excellent bosses are a part of what creates a healthy work culture. Excellent employees and supervisors all practice certain behaviors in the workplace. What are these behaviors? Have us provide the "Creating a Healthy Work Culture" training and find out.
